Tony Mendoza, right, Monday night received an award in appreciation for all the work he has done in Boy Scouts over the past years. For four consecutive years Tony has been a Major in the local Boy Scout efforts. Harold A. Smith, Executive Director for the Hill Country District, presented the award. It's up to you

Over the decades an avalanche of words has deluged the American public urging, cajoling, asking, telling and begging them to vote at election time.

It would seem that after so many years and millions of words on a subject of such importance, Americans would be eager to speak their piece at the ballot box.

But such is not the case. They had rather harp and gripe over a coffee break, at a bridge game or on the street corner about all "those politicians" doing everything wrong. Yet, when the time comes to stand up and be officially counted they have gone fishing, visiting or out-of-town. Or they have just plain let it slip their minds.

Ask a person if he voted and many times he'll say, "Naw, why should I? The politicians are going to do what they want to do anyway, and my vote doesn't mean a thing."

How wrong such thinking is. In the first place who are the politicians? They have been someone's next door neighbor for many years, may be yours. And for all these years he's been a "pretty good old Joe." But elect him to office and immediately he's "that politician."

Secondly, they will do something -- if we insist. If enough people tell them what they want -- they'll listen. If they don't, then vote in another man until we get one who listens to the voice of the public.

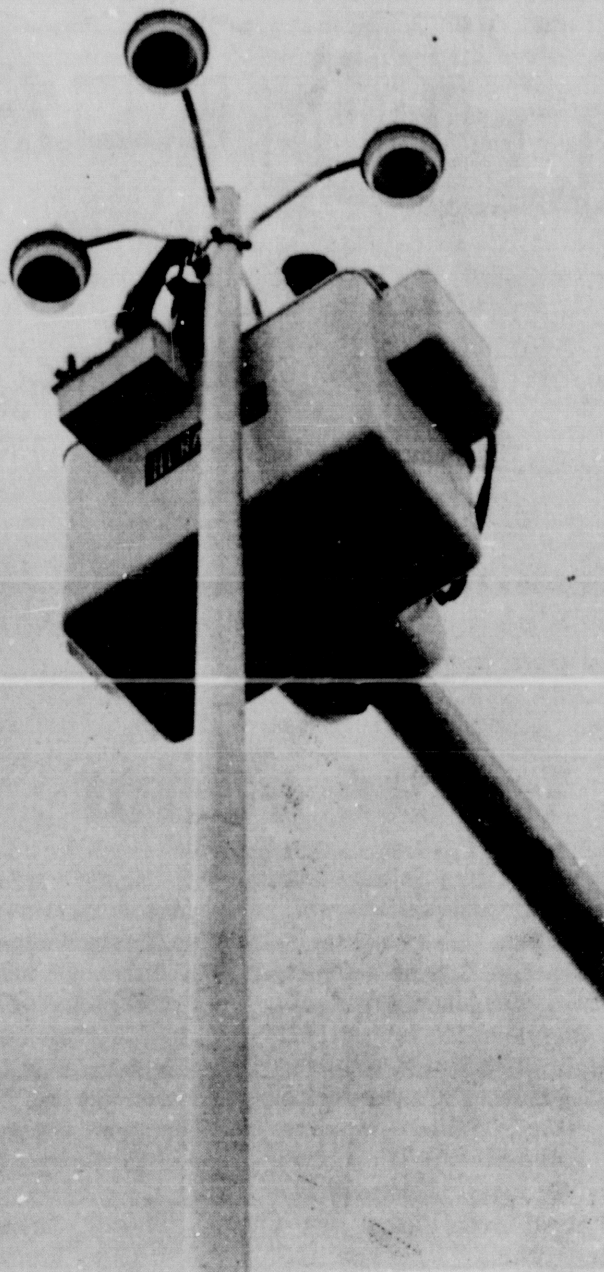

Saturday, Medina County residents trek to the polls to cast votes in the May 2 Democratic and Republican primaries. They will vote on several offices, each one in its place just as important as the one above it. Thus, residents definitely have a voice in selecting officials to fill the offices.

Will they turn out in sufficient numbers to produce a true expression of concern?

The answer is up to you, you, you and your neighbor. Spread the word that an election is being held and voters are wanted! Don't be afraid to ask a man to vote because he might not vote the same as you. Demand that he exercise his right, thereby guaranteeing yours.

Vote Saturday and raise your voice to a level so that it is heard above the babble of a strident few who are attempting to see to it that you and I will not be able to vote in the future.

So no matter who you are: little man, big man, poor man, rich man, brown skin, black skin, white skin, young man, old man, do your citizenship thing Saturday--VOTE.

Look up! Light up!

Perched high in their "cherry picker" city crewmen Oscar and Mike Dominguez are installing a cluster of lights on the standards around City Square. Two standards will light each side, with the north standards having four lights to provide more lighting for special street gatherings. Other standards will have only two lights each. The standards were made for the City by Pete Knowles in Uvalde at about $35 each. Factory prices run about $150, Public Works Director Fritz Leinweber said.

Hondo livestock auctions to be Saturdays

Beginning Saturday, May 9, Hondo Livestock Auction Co. will hold sales every Saturday, according to Lloyd Hardt, owner-manager of the company. Sales will begin at 12 noon each Saturday. "Our consigners and buyers have requested that we change our auction sales to Saturdays," Hardt said. "We think it will be more convenient for buyers and will be a help for the entire community."

Boy Scouts plan giant meet

Hondo residents will think an invasion has taken place May 2 and 3 when an estimated 500 Boy Scouts pull a two-day camp-out at Hondo City Park.

This will be the annual outing of the Boy Scout troops in the Catholic San Antonio Archdiocese. Last year's event was held in New Braunfels and some 500 scouts were present.

Harry Filleman of the Chamber of Commerce is serving as the local liaison and says that on Wednesday, April 29, he will have a group of local men out

Eggs, eggs

Ben Graff, Jr. won "eggs for an entire year" by bringing in the most money on the first week of the Boy Scout Fund Drive. His prize was this hen and the first egg. Workers raised $600 the first week for Boy Scouts, Chairman Bill Fly said. Milton Renken got "the bacon" for second, and Arlen Graff took the coffee for third.

searching for firewood to haul to the City Park for a big bonfire the Scouts will hold on Saturday night, May 2.

The Scouts will begin arriving late Friday afternoon of May 1 and will stay over until Sunday, May 3. An impressive part of their stay will take place at 2:30 p.m. May 3 when they assemble at the Courthouse and march to St. John's Catholic Church for services.

Filleman says the public has a cordial invitation to visit the City Park to see exhibits and happenings while the Scouts are there.

Voters' turn comes at polls

Red-hot statewide political races and candidate-crowded local contests grind to a halt this weekend as all candidates stand aside and let the voters have their say in the May 2 primary elections.

Statewide and district elections will interest Medina County residents, but their main focus will be on the contests for County Judge, Commissioner of Precinct 4, and Justices-of-the Peace in Precincts 1, 3, 5 and 8.

Five candidates seek the County Judge spot now held by Judge James Duncan, who did not seek re-election. They are (in ballot order) George A. Clark of Hondo, Mrs. Sarah L. Russell of Nattalia, Marie G. Hardy of Devine and Francis C. Richter of Hondo.

The State Senator, District 49 contest holds extra interest for Medina County residents, since incumbent John Poerner of Hondo is asking to be returned to Austin. His opponent is Raul Trevino of Crystal City.

The State Senator, District 21, sees incumbent Sen. Wayne Connally of Wilson County meeting the challenge of Erasmo Andrade of Bexar County.

Political fever reached a high pitch over the state in the U. S. Senator contest between incumbent Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough and former Congressman Lloyd Bentsen; Yet, in Medina County, there is very little open talk about either candidate.

A state race which has also generated some heat is the Land Commissioner bout between incumbent Jerry Sadler and former State Representative Bob Armstrong. Fred Williams of Houston seems to be running a poor third in the battle.

Perhaps the hottest races locally, as far as conversation from the public goes, are the Justices of the Peace contests. In Precinct 1, six candidates seek the position. In ballot order they are Leon B. Mangold, Floyd Koch, Robert Ward, Harold F. Herring, Enocente (Jimmy) Palacios and Charles J. Lutz.

Over in Commissioner Precinct 4, incumbent Ira Barron is being challenged by L. M. (Red) Davis.

Daniel D. Ruempel seeks Precinct 3 JP; and C. Q. (Oak) Williams is a candidate for the Justice-of-the-Peace spot in Precinct 5; while John V. Parma seeks the Precinct 8 JP position.

Other candidates for county offices who have no opposition are Francis J. Bohl, District Clerk; Henry Schulte, County Clerk; Milton L. Mechler, County Treasurer; and C. F. Schweers, County Superintendent.

A complete list of candidates for both the Democratic and Republican party primaries will be found in section two of this issue of the Anvil Herald.

Republicans to vote at courthouse May 2

All Republicans voting in the May 2 primary election will cast their ballots in the office of the Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1, in the Medina County Courthouse, Hondo, according to Bruce Foster, County Republican Chairman.

Only two offices in the state have opposing candidates in the Republican primary, and local area interest is focused on the race of Mak Pryor for State Representative, District 49.

Foster is seeking re-election as County Chairman.

State-wide offices include: U. S. Senator, Robert Morris and George Bush are vying for the party nomination; Governor, Roger Martin and Paul Eggers oppose each other in this race.

Other offices and candidates are: Lieutenant Governor, Bryon Fullerton; Attorney General, Edward M. Yturri; Comptroller of Public Accounts, S. L. Abbott; State Treasurer, Robert F. Koennecke; Commissioner of General Land Office, Harry Trippett; Commissioner of Agriculture, Daniel C. Heath.

Chairman Foster reminded party members that the Precinct Convention is set for 3:30 p.m. at the Courthouse on election day.

Voter Voice to be light

If the lack of talk going around the county about the May 2 primary elections is any indication, the voter turnout in Medina County Saturday will be light to moderate.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, and all voting places are listed in this issue of the Anvil Herald.

Another indication of a light voter turnout is the number of absentee ballots counted in the County Clerk's office. As of Tuesday noon, 21 Democrats had voted or requested applications and two Republicans had requested applications.

Feedlot draws opposition

Strong opposition was expressed in Austin Monday to the application for a feedlot permit sought by Kenneth Cox of Devine. Opposing the application were Joe and Albert Vance of Devine. Dr. J. F. Vance of San Antonio presented a petition bearing 150 signatures urging that the feedlot be denied a permit.

Kenneth Cox, represented by Joe Briscoe of Devine, stated that he began operations in 1962, feeding about 2,000 head of cattle. The number rose to 10,000 in the fall of 1969.

The lot has about 8,500 animals at this time, Cox stated.

Joe Vance filed a lawsuit last fall, and his attorney was Emmett Shelton of Austin. Cox then applied for a permit, and said he did not know one was needed. Shelton said that he was still trying to get an injunction for the Vance family. Shelton added that he had received word recently that the case in Hondo had been set for June 2, and he complained that it had been seven months since the effort began to stop the feedlot operation and there was still no trial.

When Dr. Vance presented the petition, he stated that about half the names had been solicited, and the others came forward voluntarily to sign. The petition indicates that nearby residents are bothered by insects, odors and "toxic smells". They also allege general depreciation of their land values. Dr. Vance said that if the proposed facilities are built, the normal drainage of the land will be altered, and flood waters will be permanently diverted from three stock water tanks which the Vances say are now useless due to pollution drainage.

Cox presented a plan to capture the drainage from his lots in a pond, and then dump it out as irrigation water.

The examiner said he did not know what action the Texas Water Quality Board would take when they hear the case, probably May 28 or 29.

ELECTED TO OFFICE

Mrs. Paul Pope returned this week from New Orleans where she had attended a 4-day regional conference of Camp Fire Girls, Inc.

Three hundred CF personnel Regions III and IV, now combined to include 12 states and cover one-fourth of the United States. Theme of the conference was "Together we make the difference."

A voting delegate from the Medina County Council of Camp Fire, Mrs. Pope was elected vice-chairman of the newly-combined Region and was re-elected to the National Council, both offices for 2-year terms.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Officers elected at the Hondo PTA meeting Tuesday evening are Mrs. Jerry Williamson, vice-president; Mrs. Arthur Heider, secretary; and Bruce Foster, treasurer.

The president will be elected at the May meeting.

The Rev. Raymond Brezna addressed the group on the subject of Teenage Problems.

Hired

B. F. Johnson of San Antonio Tuesday night was hired by the Hondo City Council as manager of the city-owned electrical system. The new manager has 28-years of experience and has been employed by the San Antonio Public Service Board. He will assume duties on Monday, May 4, and will commute to San Antonio until school is out, and his 18-year-old son graduates from Highlands High School.

In the Anvil Herald's opinion

Reasonable government needed

Every so often in history the climate of government reaches the point where it could be termed a crisis situation, brought on by a minute few of the population who care little about "the good of the country."

Perhaps these people would argue that this phrase is an empty, meaningless group of words. But we cannot agree with them.

We firmly believe in the right of the individual. We firmly believe in the dignity of man. We firmly believe that we must constantly strive to alleviate the many problems of poverty, pollution, education and many others before our country can again raise its head without a blush of guilt.

However, we also believe the solutions to these problems must be sought on a sound, mature, unemotional, reasonable basis and not through the violence of strident and completely unrestrained protest. The solutions must be worked out in such a manner that the new course will be "good for the country."

Government should pay heed to the voices of its people. And we mean voices, for there are many voices in the United States, each seeking something of particular interest. All they are seeking can never be granted; however, each one should be heard and serious study given to the problem.

This, then, we believe is the function of government. As Abraham Lincoln pointed out so clearly, "It cannot please all of the people all of the time," but it certainly can work diligently toward reasonable solutions that will alleviate human suffering, dangers of pollution and the many other serious problems affecting all the people of our country.

It is this type of approach to problems that we urge government to follow. And it is our belief that this type of governmental approach will be followed by the men the Anvil Herald is supporting in the May 2, Democratic Primary.

We believe these men are fully aware of the multitude of problems facing the people of our country and through their broad experience in both public life and private business are qualified to help solve them.

The Anvil Herald thus goes on record of supporting the following men for the respective offices they are seeking.

U. S. Senator -- Lloyd Bentsen
Texas Attorney General -- Crawford Martin

Texas Land Commissioner -- Bob Armstrong

Texas Railroad Commissioner -- Ben Ramsey

Supreme Court of Texas (Associate Justice, Place 3) -- Hawthorne Philips

Letters to the editor

Editor,

The Anvil Herald,

I am writing you on behalf of Judge Fred V. Klingeman, Associate Justice of the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals in San Antonio, who is running for re-election in the Democratic primary. You will recall Judge Klingeman was appointed to his position on the Court of Civil Appeals by Governor Connally and is now running for re-election. Medina County is one of the thirty-two counties constituting the Fourth Court of Appeals. Judge Klingeman is opposed by Charles W. Grace, who is a former County Judge of Bexar County.

Judge Klingeman practiced law in Karnes City, Texas for more than twenty-five years before being elevated by Governor Connally to the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals.

His record on the Court has been outstanding and he has proven to the Bar that he has the ability to serve in this important position with distinction.

The San Antonio Bar Association conducted a poll of its members in which Judge Klingeman received 535 votes to 123 votes for his opponent, Charles W. Grace.

It is extremely important that we have qualified judges at all levels of the judiciary system. I am sure the voters of Medina County, if informed of the qualifications of the men in this race, would overwhelmingly return Judge Klingeman to the Court of Civil Appeals.

Very truly yours,
Ferd C. Meyer, Jr.

2) He has worked hard for this office. He has spent much energy, time, and money conducting a "professional" campaign.
3) All things considered, I believe he is the best person for the job.

I urge all voters to "mark" a vote for George Clark on May 2.

Sincerely,
Richard Adams

(Editor's Note: It is the firm belief of the Editor that such letters as these constitute endorsement of political candidates and as such should be carried only as paid political advertising. However, since this has not been firm, these two are being run as letters-to-the-editor. In the future any such letters will receive close inspection, and if determined to be political endorsements will be run only as paid advertising.)

To the editor:

I am going to vote for George Clark for county judge for the following reasons:

1) He is well qualified. He has a law degree and a business degree.

Fines given in DWI cases

County Judge James Duncan was busy Monday in County Court with cases involving driving while intoxicated.

Action was taken on the following cases: Manuel P. Hernandez, Jr., DWI, plea of guilty, fined $100 and costs, three days in jail, probation granted; Raul Padron Alford, DWI, plea of guilty, fined $100 and costs, three days in jail;

Claud August Harmes, DWI, plea of guilty, $100 fine and costs, three days in jail, probation granted; Hwey M. Perez, DWI, plea of guilty, fined $100 and costs, three days in jail; Thomas Andrew Ramos, DWI, plea of guilty, fined $100 and costs, three days in jail, probation granted; Emilio Duque, DWI, plea of guilty, fined $100 and costs, three days in jail.

A charge of aggravated assault against Julius O. Dreibrod was dismissed.

Fire ant study shut down

U. S. Department of Agriculture personnel have located imported fire ants in the city limits of Rio Medina. This confirmed report has greatly enlarged the survey area that would need to be checked says Glenn Bragg, County Agricultural Agent.

"Therefore, the USDA has decided to discontinue the imported fire ant survey until further notice," Bragg said.

Publications on imported fire ants and how to control them are available in the local county agent's office.

so that residents may have more information on which to base a vote in selecting a new judge in the Saturday, May 2 primary election.

All candidates were offered equal time, but one declined.

Joining with KRME in this public service the Anvil Herald is putting in writing a summary of the answers the four candidates gave in the interviews with John Seater, station manager.

WHAT ARE THE MOST IMPORTANT PROBLEMS FACING MEDINA COUNTY TODAY?

JEROME DECKER -- First and most important, the rapid rate of inflation and tremendous increase in costs make it essential for the county to operate a tight financial budget in order to avoid unnecessary and burdensome tax increases. Second would be law and order. Medina County must increase and improve its activities in law enforcement, providing substantial changes to assure fair and reasonable trial in all cases. Order and security must be maintained, but at the same time preserve the rights of the individual citizen.

MRS. MARIE HARDY--All Medina County is God's Country and to recommend changes at this time is difficult. I made a survey of what the people feel we need and they believe we need expanded educational facilities, have trade schools, broader vocational programs, perhaps junior college and job placement. They want more recreational programs for the youth, the adults and the senior citizens. There is concern about minors obtaining alcoholic beverages. One expressed the feeling that older men are obtaining these for the younger boys and girls and if caught they should be prosecuted for contributing to minors. We need closer coordination in county. Leaders should represent county as a whole; one town or one area is just as important as the other. It has been suggested that leaders of school districts, cities and county hold annual, semi-annual or bi-monthly meetings to discuss problems of all areas. We need more hard-surfaced Farm-to-Market roads. Let's beautify our county. On juvenile offenders--no juvenile should be sentenced to be with a mature criminal. We should work out a system for them to work out their fines in order to make the experience more meaningful to the juveniles.

FRANCIS C. RICHTER -- The most important problem facing the county will be re-districting the Commissioners Court, Justice Precincts and election precincts based on the 1970 census to afford equal representation to all persons.

MRS. SARAH RUSSELL -- We have a number of problems. A major one is the hospital. This is a county hospital and should be recognized as such. It is badly in need of qualified nurses and has been running in the red. Every consideration should be given toward correcting these needs, especially since Medicare and Medicaid have certain rules which must be followed. We are faced with problems of water matters, crime matters and road matters that need attention.

WHAT PROBLEMS WILL MEDINA COUNTY BE FACED WITH IN THE NEXT FIVE TO 10 YEARS?

JEROME DECKER -- It seems to me the problems I discussed in answering the first question will engage the county for the next five to 10 years.

MRS. MARIE HARDY--We will need better and more roads. Right now we have plenty of clean air but in a short time air pollution may have to be faced and this may force some type of zoning. Improved recreational and educational facilities, more hospitals and nursing homes, these will be problems. We need closer work between various ethnic groups to preclude outside interference--solve all our own problems locally. We are all Americans first, Texans second, Medina County citizens third and national origin comes fourth.

FRANCIS C. RICHTER -- Perhaps the most pressing problem will be the Highway Program for the '70's as adopted by the Highway District here. First consideration must be given to Highway 90 and its development and enlargement. And that will make it necessary to take into consultation the interested people and cities involved in order to secure their cooperation in acquiring funds which will go toward purchasing $1.5 million right-of-way acquisitions. We will need more and better Farm-to-Market roads, and we will have to resist the pressure of urban legislators to divert these funds from FM programs to other highway programs. We will be faced with pollution problems involving Medina Lake, our streams and the Edwards Underground Water District. Right now there is no prosecution for pollution; all cases must be taken to the Texas Water Quality Control Board. Acquisition of garbage disposal sites will be a problem. County funds can be used to acquire the sites but not for maintenance or enlargement. Action must be taken concerning land subdivisions in rural areas. At present time there is no law and no control over them and sub-dividers cannot be required to furnish the necessary streets and sidewalks that would be required of urban developers, and this would require a demand sometime in the future for county to perform these functions. Some counties are seeking legislation for standard building codes in rural areas. These would provide a minimum standard of construction and permits would give a value for them to be placed on tax rolls. Also it may be necessary to have a re-evaluation of property for tax purposes. If this is done it would be my suggestion that this be a joint enterprise with all other taxing units in the county so that valuations may be fair for all persons.

MRS. SARAH RUSSELL -- With the expected growth we will be faced with an increase in crime, especially in narcotics and drugs which are facing our younger people more each day. Growth will demand better roads, better water supplies, careful attention to air and water pollution. We need a long range planning program by qualified personnel to help us with these matters. We need to obtain more industry in our county which will give more employment and reduce our county welfare. Our tax structure will have to be consistently reviewed and equalization must be maintained.

HOW DO YOU THINK AS JUDGE YOU CAN HELP WITH THESE PROBLEMS?

JEROME DECKER -- The County Judge has a job similar to a businessman or a mayor of a city. Since county officers are individually elected the County Judge must exert leadership and cooperation with other officers to take care of the business of the county government as effectively and economically as possible.

MRS. MARIE HARDY -- As County Judge, I also would serve as Juvenile Judge. Anything concerning the youth of Medina County would be of paramount importance to me. I would be glad to serve on committees or function in any manner to alleviate undesirable conditions. As presiding officer of the Commissioners Court I could serve as an advisor with that group. Many of the problems concern people and business. Conditions change from time to time and we must use whatever tools we have available to solve our problems.

FRANCIS C. RICHTER -- The County Judge has only one vote on the Commissioners Court, but he has the time and facilities to gather information on both sides of all questions and see they are properly presented to the Court so it can render a fair determination.

MRS. SARAH RUSSELL -- The County Judge can be a leader in all matters pertaining to the county. The judge must be a willing and capable person, willing to devote much time in studying the matters, meeting with qualified experts in various fields, thoroughly understand what the county will be facing and give good, sound and honest leadership to other county officials.

The candidates were then asked what qualifications they felt prepared them for serving as County Judge.

JEROME DECKER -- Discussed his background as a businessman, Mayor of Hondo, and federal employee.

MRS. MARIE HARDY -- Said psychology courses had given her understanding of people, and business administration course applied to her business have furnished knowledge and experience for the job.

FRANCIS C. RICHTER -- Said in 32 years of legal experience he has worked closely with all phases of city and county work. He has been elected acting judge two times.

Oh Noble Knight
Thou sword is dull
Nor gleam is bright

Thou has failed to Show Unto His servants the Light, whose stars invite

Oh Noble Priest
Oh Noble Knight
Thou Path has been methodically right
Thou words have been without a fight
But yet our eyes have failed to see
The light that shines from God's own might

Oh Noble Priest
Oh Noble Knight
Thou has failed, your King
Thou has failed, His might Take up a new path, find a new Light

It will be Nature
and thou be right,
For it is only thoughts of Nature that lead unto the light.

Draw from the rock an Excaliber's might
Cut a new path, that will brighten
Our souls and show us the light.

Strike out thou banner and honor his might Leave not his Kingdom unto the night

Oh Noble Priest

His time has been Most centuries long.

Let Him wait no centuries on
For his servants who Wonder on

For it is thou
Who must fail Him not,

Soil Conservation Service

Local pollution control measures are effective

Locally-led conservation programs have dramatically reduced many forms of pollution and have improved the quality of our environment, according to E. L. Abbott, District Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, Hondo.

The Medina Valley Soil & Water Conservation District was organized in 1948 to assist local farmers and ranchers in their conservation problems. Many who have been concerned with conservation for a long time find it a little startling that our goals of conservation, pure water and a better environment are now in the middle of a national crusade, said Abbott.

Establishing grasses and legumes, terracing, brush control and other conservation practices installed by local landowners have had a big impact on pollution abatement.

"Sediment, for example, is the largest pollution of water," Abbott said. "Sediment washes from unprotected land into streams, ponds and lakes." The soil particles can carry diseases and waste, ruin fishing and increase the cost of purifying water.

More than 22 years of conservation work by landowners of the Medina Valley S&WCD has greatly reduced the volume of soil washing from rural lands, Abbott pointed out that a large portion of sediment pollution today comes from urban construction sites, roadbanks, parking lots and other nonfarm use. He said many conservation practices that are effective on farmland can also be used to curb nonfarm erosion.

"Burning prairies and crop residues once sent natural plant nutrients up in clouds of smoke," Abbott said. Now, thanks to enlightened conservation methods, burning is no longer practiced. This source of pollution from our farmlands has been almost eliminated.

"Crop rotations are used to conserve and improve the soil and fight insects, weeds and diseases," he explained. The conservation farmer strives to reduce soil loss and runoff and this reduces the likelihood of fertilizers and chemicals washing into streams and lakes, Abbott said. "The whole concept of conservation is founded on planning for the protection and improvement of the environment - a positive approach." The same positive principle can be used in planning for recreation, industry, housing development and the like. Such planning should begin with the land and its related resources.

Abbott said that most conservation work is done in rural areas by farmers and ranchers - but that the technical help that has been proven successful in rural programs is also available for nonfarm use.

To the voters of Precinct No. 1. Medina County Texas

I have made an effort to contact each of you personally, but if I have failed to see you I wish to take this opportunity to solicit your support for the office of Justice of the Peace, Precinct #1, in the May 2nd Democratic Primary election.

If elected, I promise to fulfill the duties of the office to the best of my ability, showing no favoritism regardless of color, creed or social standing.

I have had nine years in Law Enforcement work and feel that I am well qualified to fill the office.

I shall appreciate your support.

Sincerely,
Floyd F. Koch

Political Adv. Paid for by Floyd Koch.

A LETTER TO THE VOTERS OF MEDINA COUNTY

This letter is addressed to each and every voter of Medina County. It had been my desire to meet and shake the hand of each individual who takes part in selecting the officials of the county, but lack of time precluded my doing so. Please consider this as a personal message to you. The County Judge has many responsibilities, among the most important of these will be the administration of county government. A business needs a business head. I have owned and operated my own business for twelve years and had my present office for ten. I have the educational and work background to meet the variety of needs which arise from this position. I am not an attorney, but neither are more than fifty percent of the county judges in Texas.

For those who did not hear my talk on KRME Tuesday at 8:15 a.m., below are some of the excerpts therefrom: "We certainly feel that all of Medina County is God's country -- and recommending changes at this time is difficult. In fact, it would have been presumptuous of me, a candidate for a position of servant of the people to inflict my personal views on my constituents. Therefore, I made a survey of persons from various sections of the county to ascertain what the people feel we need."

The suggestions made related to expanded educational and recreational facilities, roads, beautification projects county-wide, keeping sentenced juveniles separate from mature criminals, etc.

Problems to be faced for the next five years include some of the above and conservation of water, other natural resources, wildlife, historical monuments and buildings and closer work with ethnic groups to preclude outside interference. "Dissolve any problems locally -- we are Americans first, Texans second, Medina County citizens third -- and national origin classification is fourth. That should be the sequence of importance."

"In dissolving the problems, as County Judge of Medina County, I would serve as Juvenile Judge. Anything concerning the youth of the county would be of paramount importance to me and I would be glad to serve on committees or function in any manner to alleviate undesirable conditions. Also, in matters concerning the County Commissioners, I would be the presiding officer of the Commissioner's Court and could serve as advisor with that group. Many of the problems relate to people and business. Conditions change from time to time and we use whatever tools we have available to dissolve our problems." My educational background and business experience will prove invaluable to me in administering the operation of the business of the county."

I respectfully ask that you VOTE FOR MARIE G. HARDY FOR COUNTY JUDGE OF MEDINA COUNTY ON MAY 2nd.

Sincerely,

Marie G. Hardy

 Hondo years back.

Robert G. Maurmann,
 Deputy Director of the Parks

 til his retirement, has this to say about Hondo:

"Hondo was my first assignment with the Department after I graduated from college. I was stationed there as a warden from November 11, 1937 to the following March, 1938, when I moved to Medina Lake and conducted a study of the food habits of the fish gar.

"The people in Medina County were a great inspiration to me. Ranchmen in the county were truly pioneers in the field of wildlife conservation and their encouragement contributed a great deal to my decision to make a career for myself in this field."

OWL FANS 'HOOT' TEAM ON

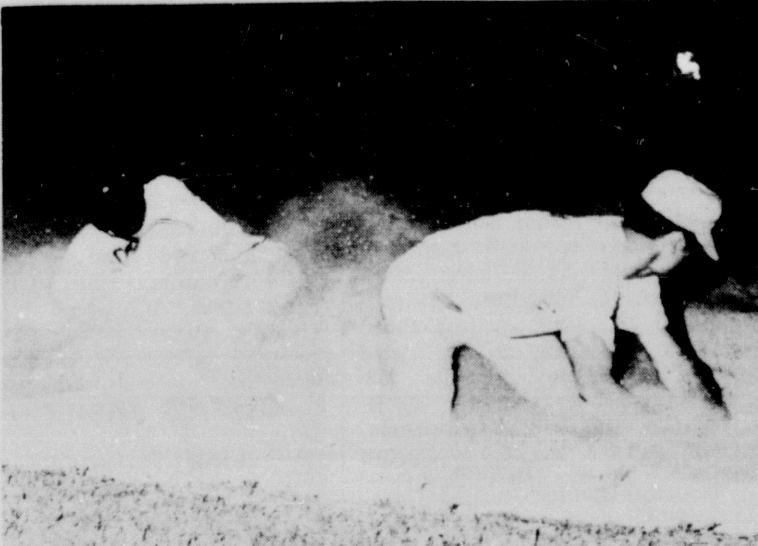

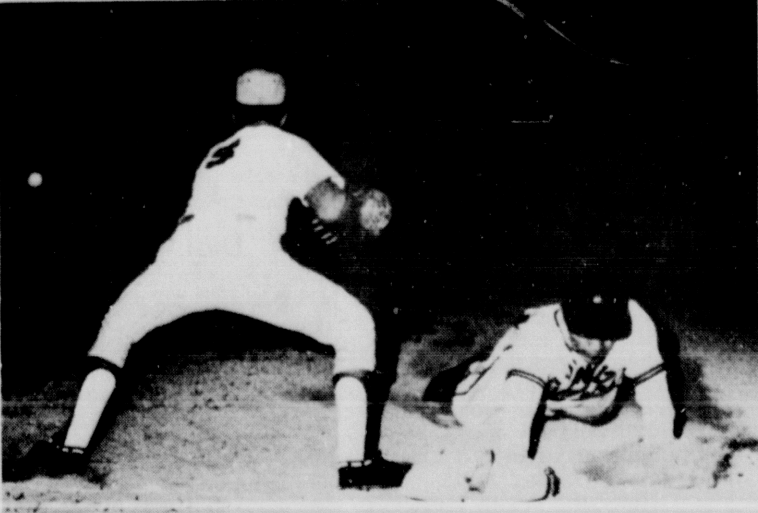

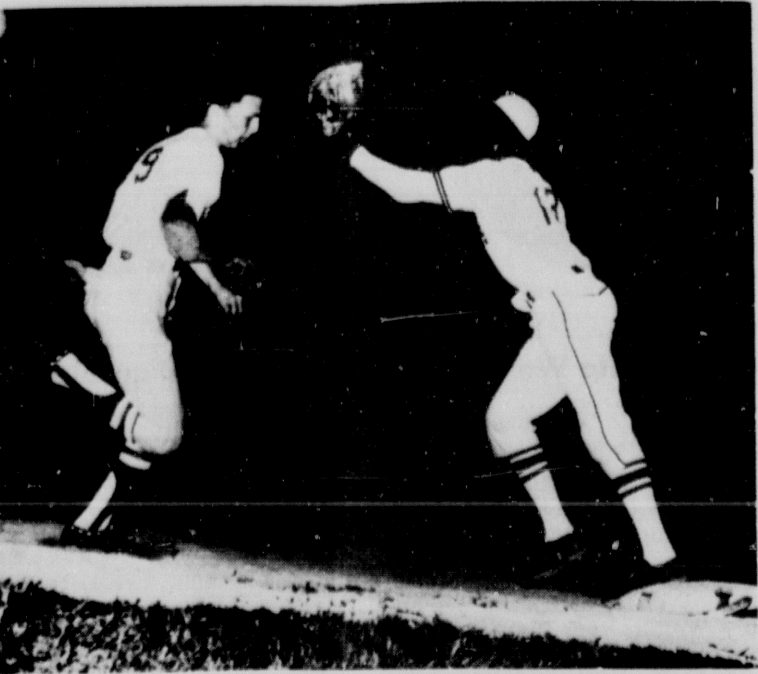

... there's nothing like a vocal rooting section and the Hondo High School baseball team has that at home games. Thursday night when they played Southwest, these fans turned out to urge the Owls to victory. All could not be identified but somewhere in the group are Sandy Saathoff, Morris Faseler, David Wharton, Larry Westbrook, Janet Parsons, Mitch Weynand, Charlene Lutz and Russell Hermes.

Owls win one, lose one

The old adage used by some that the way to get ahead is cash in on the other man's mistakes proved to be a boon for D'Hanis in baseball Tuesday night. The Cowboys rapped a few timely hits in the third and seventh innings after the Hondo Owls had committed errors and scored four hits in each frame to take an 8-6 victory over the Hondo Owls. Ronnie Knowles and Ted Arcos both hit two-for-three and Juan Miranda slapped a triple at one official time at bat to drive in three runs. David Beard pitched for the Owls and Chuck Burrell hurled the victory for D'Hanis. Last Thursday night was a different story when the Owls whopped Southwest 7-1. Combining four hits and three walks, the Owls scored all their runs in the fifth inning. Friday afternoon the Owls tackle Medina Valley. Ricky Powell pitched the win and also drove in two runs by getting two hits for three times at bat. In the sixth, Richard Hernandez singled, Johnny Miranda followed with a walk and Rusty Attaway's sacrifice pushed Hernandez across for a run. Jenschkel was replaced on the mound by Louis Rech in the seventh inning. Tommy Attaway started on the rubber for the Eagles and pitched a respectable six-hitter, but was victimized by a leaky Eagle defense that committed six errors. Attaway's record now stands at two wins and one loss. Bill Sebera, a former standout in the Los Angeles Dodger organization, proved the big gun for Fredericksburg, collecting three of the six hits given up by Attaway. Johnny Abrizo pitched the eighth inning for the Eagles and also slammed a double against the left field wall in the seventh inning. The Eagles are idle in the league this week and have scheduled a Sunday game at home with Simpson's Radio & TV of the Spanish American League.

Fredericksburg Pats stayed on top in the Hill Country League Sunday by holding off the Hondo Eagles 9-4. For four innings the Eagles were handcuffed without a hit by Fredericksburg's starting pitcher, John Jenschkel. But in the fifth Hondo broke loose for two runs on a single

Rodeo arena to see test on Saturday May 2

Rodeo action will fill the air Saturday night, May 2, when a test-run is given the new rodeo grounds by the Medina County Rodeo Association. "About 50 riders will be roping steers and calves Saturday night to help us test the new facilities," Vernon Grunewald, secretary-treasurer, said. Big plans are on the board for the rodeo arena with a real-life rodeo, including clowns and all, tentatively slated the first week in June to celebrate the Grand Opening.

Staff needed for summer rec program

Applications are now being accepted by the board of directors of the Hondo summer recreation program for the positions of director and two assistants. This program, which is planned to offer a supervised play period to the children of Hondo, will operate seven weeks, June 15 through July 31. The hours are from 8:00 to 11:30 each week day morning and the program is open to any child who has completed at least one year in school. Anyone interested in submitting an application for the available positions may do so by sending a written application to any board member by May 18, 1970 at which time the board will make the final decisions on applications received. Board members are George L. Brucks, chairman; John McAnelly, Mrs. Fred Bader, Mrs. James Richter and Mrs. Reno Stanga. Brucks has recently joined the board of directors of the summer recreation program replacing E. L. Abbott, who resigned after many years of service.

"We plan a two-day event with a parade of riders on Saturday morning, a rodeo that evening followed by barbecue and dancing," Grunewald said. He also explained that Hondo Improvement Association will co-sponsor the evening events. Association members hope to promote the arena as a community facility available for 4-H horse shows, rodeos (including one for men over 40) and any other event that needs the space and facilities. Grunewald explained the hopes are that this can be made into a facility offering attractions for the entire family.

Cards are being mailed to members this week reminding them of the Saturday event and that May 2 is dues day. Anyone interested in joining may do so for only $10 per family.

County agricultural income increase proposed in plans

An all-out effort to increase agricultural income in Texas by $1 billion by the end of the 1976 crop year has been announced by Dr. John E. Hutchison, director, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Medina County Agent Glenn Bragg reported this week.

Program objectives is to further develop the tremendous potential for agricultural income in Medina County and for all other counties of the state.

Slogan for the program, "3.76 in '76", is significant for it marks the centennial year of Texas A&M University, the state's land grant university.

Too, the agricultural income of Texas is now approximately $2.76 billion and the $1 billion increase would achieve the 3.76 figure.

Farm income in Medina County totaled $9,344,000 in 1968, according to the Texas Almanac. This figure was gained from ranching, feeding, broomcorn grains and feed crops.

This program is specifically planned to close the gap between average and potential yields of all economically important agricultural commodities produced in Medina County and will utilize improved marketing practices, Bragg says. The program is designed to increase both the gross and net income of producers.

The County Program Building Committee will set long range and annual goals based on the knowledge and experience of local farmers and ranchers, Bragg said. These will be attainable, he added, if producers will follow the coordinated application of improved practices already proved by research and Extension demonstrations. The practices have been outlined in production guidelines prepared by Extension specialists and other resource people for each economically important agricultural enterprise in the county. Improved marketing practices will receive emphasis equal to production in the program effort, Bragg said.

The County USDA Rural Development Committee, composed of representatives of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Soil Conservation Service, Farmers Home Administration, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, U. S. Forest Service and Rural Electrification Administration, have pledged their services to the County Program Building Committee is helping Medina County reach its goal by 1976.

"I see the program as a rewarding challenge to agricultural producers and as a stimulant to the entire economy of Medina County," Bragg said in releasing the information.

From one winner to another

Carl A. Benson, Jr., left, congratulates Emanuel Honig, senior electrical engineering student at Texas Tech, who is the third Texas Tech student in as many years to win the coveted Tau Beta Pi Fellowship. Benson won the award last year and used his fellowship this year to work toward the master's degree in electrical engineering at Tech. No more than 13 fellowships have ever been awarded in one year in competition among engineering students from 130 colleges and universities. Honig, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Honig of Hondo, hopes to apply the $2,500 fellowship toward his work on a master's degree in electrical engineering at Texas Tech. His special interest is in thermonuclear studies. From 10 to 13 fellowships have been granted annually in national competition, for the past several years. The program is supported by the Tau Beta Pi Association, national engineering honor society, and by industry and groups concerned with distinguished scholarship among professional engineers. Honig graduated from Hondo High School in 1966.

NYC seeking new teacher

The Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC) office, located in Brackettville, is taking applications for a remedial education teacher.

Applicants must be able to travel from one town to another to work. Travel will be paid.

Interested persons should call Rev. Harvey Kinchlow at 512-563-2324 in Brackettville for appointment, or write P.O. Drawer 68.

D'Hanis junior Carmen Langfeld was chosen 'Miss Greek' at Southwest Texas, San Marcos, last week kicking off the campus' Greek Week activities. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Langfeld of D'Hanis, Miss Langfeld was sponsored by Kappa Sigma fraternity. She has also been elected one of the university's cheerleaders in a heavily contested battle.

Regina Mueller's years span almost a century

By Edna McDade

It was Edgar Guest who said in one of his poems, "It takes a heap of livin' in, to make a house a home."

Mrs. Regina (Ernest) Koch Mueller, now 96, has established proof of this poetic philosophy.

For the first 92 years of her busy life, Mrs. Mueller lived in the sturdy two-story rock house in D'Hanis where she was born March 2, 1874 and which had been the first home of her parents and their 11 children, seven sons and four daughters, of whom Regina is the sole survivor.

She is the fourth child born to Stephan and Margaret Fohn Koch, natives of Germany, who had emigrated to Texas about 1850. According to a yellowed newspaper clipping, supplied by his grandson Robert Koch of Hondo, Stephan was born in Wahlen, Kreis Moritz, and came to Medina County via Galveston.

Four years ago, when the responsibilities of maintaining the big home alone became too much for its frail but determined mistress, her family persuaded her to take residence in Brown's Nursing Center, Hondo, where she could live among some of her contemporaries and former neighbors.

It was there that I met Regina Mueller for the first time last week -- a case of admiration at first sight for the independent, spunky individualist she has remained, in spite of the handicap of deafness and the encroaching toll of Time.

We communicated mainly by written questions, which she read easily without glasses.

es. Her alert mind and eyes often anticipate replies, adding surprisingly animated bits of information from her store of memories. She insists, "I have forgotten more than I ever knew. But I try to hold on to a thought when it is helping me on what I should say."

Laughingly, with the glint of mischief which I found completely disarming and delightful, she added: "I remember this from childhood: Don't ask too many questions and I will try not to tell too many lies!"

As a little girl, Regina said, she much preferred the freedom of outdoors and any farm or field chores to the daily dishes and other domestic tasks indoors. She accompanied her father everywhere he permitted her to do so. "I don't think the house missed me too much because there were more than enough extra hands to go around."

"School?" my pen inquired. "Oh, school, sure," she answered. "It was there and had to be attended so I went. The teachers must have been good because they taught me to read and to know that education through books was necessary. I loved to read when I could use my eyes more freely."

"The older you grow," she offered, "the more you seem to live in the past. We have to watch this or we'll be backing up all the way! I love to remember earlier days when we were a complete family. How happy we were!"

Regina and Ernest Mueller were married "a long time ago", she told me, admitting that the exact date escaped her but remembering that the ceremony had been performed in St. Dominic's Catholic Church. Its crumbling stone walls and gaping Gothic windows still stand sentinel to the remains of pioneers in the church burial ground where rugged iron crosses and concrete statues that have resisted age and neglect still mark the passing years for succeeding generations.

"We had four sons," said their mother softly. "Johnnie and Eddie are gone now, God rest them, but I still have my Harry in Hondo and my Joe in D'Hanis, and many devoted nephews and nieces who come to see me and help me remember old times, maybe over and over and over." Ed Koch, son of Regina's brother Nick, and his wife May, are frequent visitors these days.

Reminiscences recaptured some of those old times. She spoke frequently of her parents, who had turned the original farm home over to her when they moved just across the railroad tracks to a similar but smaller rock house, still occupied by the Jack Snyder family of D'Hanis.

"I could look out my kitchen window and keep an eye on Mama who was always full of energy and up to almost anything. One day I saw her coming across the tracks to my house just as I heard the rumble of a train." Regina says she still shudders at the memory.

Her mother, oblivious of the danger, walked into the path of the slow-moving train which rolled her down the track's cinderbed banks. Trainmen rushed to her rescue and Regina said, "I flew, scared half to death myself."

Mama was grimy and bleeding but conscious and fussing at herself instead of at the solicitous trainmen who placed her on a cot and took her to Regina's home where she was nursed back to recovery. "When I asked Mama if she was hurt very bad," said her frightened daughter, "she answered, 'Well, if that lightning couldn't kill me when it tried, a train had better not try either!'"

Actually, it was Regina's Aunt Louisa Anderle, who lived with Mama, who almost died of fright. When she saw what had happened to her sister, she came crawling under the stalled train to help pick up whatever was left of Mama. Regina remembers, "We tried not to laugh through our tears but we just had to, we were so relieved!"

Mama recovered only to be caught up in other escapades of her own daring. Another time, said her devoted daughter, "I saw her climbing up a tall ladder to the barn where she knew she had no business. I said, 'God, You help me watch Mama.' Just then the ladder broke and down went Mama and I flew to ask the same old question, 'Are you hurt?'"

This time Mama confessed that her pride hurt the most and maybe she had a bump on one leg but the other was "all OK." She dusted herself off and accompanied Regina home, like nothing had happened.

Regina's still happy philosophy is strong enough to brighten more somber moods when memory harkens back wistfully to younger years. A devout Catholic, she cherishes the beautiful gold crucifix that accompanied her mother across the seas from her homeland almost a century and a quarter ago. "I have worn it constantly all through these years," Regina told me. "It is of great comfort and it keeps Mama's love with me always."

MRS. REGINA MUELLER
...recalls the past

"God never fails if we trust Him completely," she continued softly. "My life has been filled with many joys, many sorrows, just as we all must experience. I still cling to my faith."

If Regina Mueller's memories include nostalgic yearning for days long gone, she does not impose them on others, at least not to their discomfort. A stifled sigh speaks volumes but a hand-clasp or an understanding smile reassures her and help direct communication along happier lanes.

She has not seen her old home for a long time now, nor does she suggest a return to it. Perhaps long thoughts traverse the long miles between.

To help me get a better background for this story, Joe Mueller accompanied me to the old place last week for a view of the area where his own boyhood had been spent.

Except for the disorder of unoccupancy, the high-ceilinged rooms remain much the same as Regina Mueller left them. Evidences of her love for homemaking fill the place. On one wall, hangs a certificate of a First Communion, printed in German, and issued July 25, 1886 to Regina Koch, then 12 years old. It was signed in German script by Rev. G. M.J. Wach as pastor of St. Dominicus Church, D'Hanis, where Regina worshipped. Framed prints of religious subjects and house blessings line the walls of many of the rooms where there is statuary, and other evidences of the family's staunch faith.

Joe told me that, several months ago, vandals had chopped entrance through a front door to enter the home, overturn furniture and leave the place a shambles. Among the items missing was a treasured statue of the Blessed Mother, which he said had always stood on a bedside table. "Thank God," said Joe, "that our mother can be spared the sight of all this. We want her to remember her home as it once was."

Outside, we picked our way through encroaching weeds that choke the red tile walks. Joe pointed out the weathered bench where his mother displayed favorite potted plants. My eye caught a single stalk of blue larkspur and I wondered if it had been given its tenacious hold on life by Regina. A rambling honeysuckle tendril sought a trellis.

A few snowy crowns of Queen Anne's Lace bobbed in the noonday sun. Volunteer firewheels, primroses, winecups and bluebonnets were making their annual contribution to a neglected garden, once Regina's pride.

A rugged live oak extends gnarled branches in protecting shade over the farm well which still provides good water as it has for decades. Parker Creek borders the property and has been known to flood the old home's floors. The Creek was once a watering place for marauding Indians as they paused long enough to quench their thirst before raiding the area's horse corrals for a coveted mount. Joe remembers such Indian tales as told by his parents.

Joe's cousin, Mrs. Robert (Nettie) Koch, joined us as we drove down the winding road and across the old highway to Old D'Hanis Town. The Mueller mailbox hung open and empty on a gatepost. Within the acreage are some of the remaining ancestral live oaks that once covered much of Medina County and still lend dignity to an estate.

We stopped at what is called "the old Peter Koch place" just long enough to see its rock-walled home and to hear Nettie and Joe tell about a sulphur well once known for its healing powers.

House, well and land now belong to Nicolas Rodriguez who farms its 50 acres and produces broomcorn and feed crops. His son, Edward, a sophomore at D'Hanis High School, showed me the well, now covered by flat stones.

He removed them and dropped a small rock into its darkened depths. I distinctly heard a splash in water that might still contain its former sulphuric or sulphurous valences.

It was enough to feel that, for a little while, I had shared with Regina Mueller some of the sights and sounds that had brightened the years of her residence in the colorful countryside that had been home to her and her dear ones for so many years.

This week

That's all she wrote

By Edna McDade

Yoo-hoo, FRANKLIN WIEMERS and ODIS MUENNINK, where were you boys hiding last week?

Somehow, from among my own cryptic notes, assorted rechecks via phone and final transcription to the printed page, I must have lost you both. Now I know that Franklin rightfully is the No. 3 child and only son in the THEODORE G. WIEMERS clan and that Odis represents 50% of the sibling count in the EMIL MUENNINK family.

And, although I noted the coincidence of three marriages within a period of six weeks, I missed the even greater coincidence of the subsequent 50th wedding anniversaries of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Muennink on Dec. 17, 1969; Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Wiemers on Jan. 7; and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Schweers on Jan. 28, 1970.

And most grateful it is that I am to ERNA WIEMERS GRELL who gave me the history and hadn't said a word about the mix-up. Ain't SHE sweet?

Subscribers have been known to threaten to "cancel my subscription" for lesser reasons!

Annie of Get-Your-Gun fame had better look to her laurels. A contender for the title might be LYDIA (Mrs. Charles) SCHWEERS who has other claims to fame as noted in this column last week and see above.

When she heard the ranch dogs barking protest of some intruder, Lydia tried to ignore the noise. Then, at 4:00 a.m., she tried to rouse Charles who could ignore it and did.

Nothing daunted, Lydia got her shooting iron and a headlight to conduct her own investigation. When she saw three pairs of startled eyes peering from a tree limb, she aimed dead-eye and three ringtails will ring no more.

They were probably bent on a predatory mission, said Lydia, who reported her feat as "Mission accomplished!"

The "Baptist" E. C. Brunsons are remembered affectionately by many in this community where they served in the First Baptist Church before moving to a pastorate in Harleton, Texas. Last week's DEVINE NEWS announced that the Rev. Brunson had accepted a call to Calvary Baptist Church in that city, effective the first of June.

In the absence of a regular pastor there, JOE LEE NIXON of Hondo had been serving as interim pastor. Something tells me that Joe will welcome the return of the Brunsons.

BILLIE (Mrs. Amos) HARLLEE has a decoupage bag which she says is a conversation piece wherever she goes -- as if women ever needed a starter to start talking!

The attractive accessory is a miniature wooden barn, with an exterior of antiqued white shingles made of tiny pieces of paper. Appliques are gayly colored barnyard animals, cut from greeting cards -- horse, cow with a bushy tail, pigs, chickens, plus a farmer with corn cob pipe; even the farmer's boy.

Billie's niece, NOVELLE LAMBERT MARTIN, now of Dallas, made the bag. She is a graduate of Hondo High and she made her home with the Harllees for some years before her marriage. The Harllees are expecting a visit from her soon.

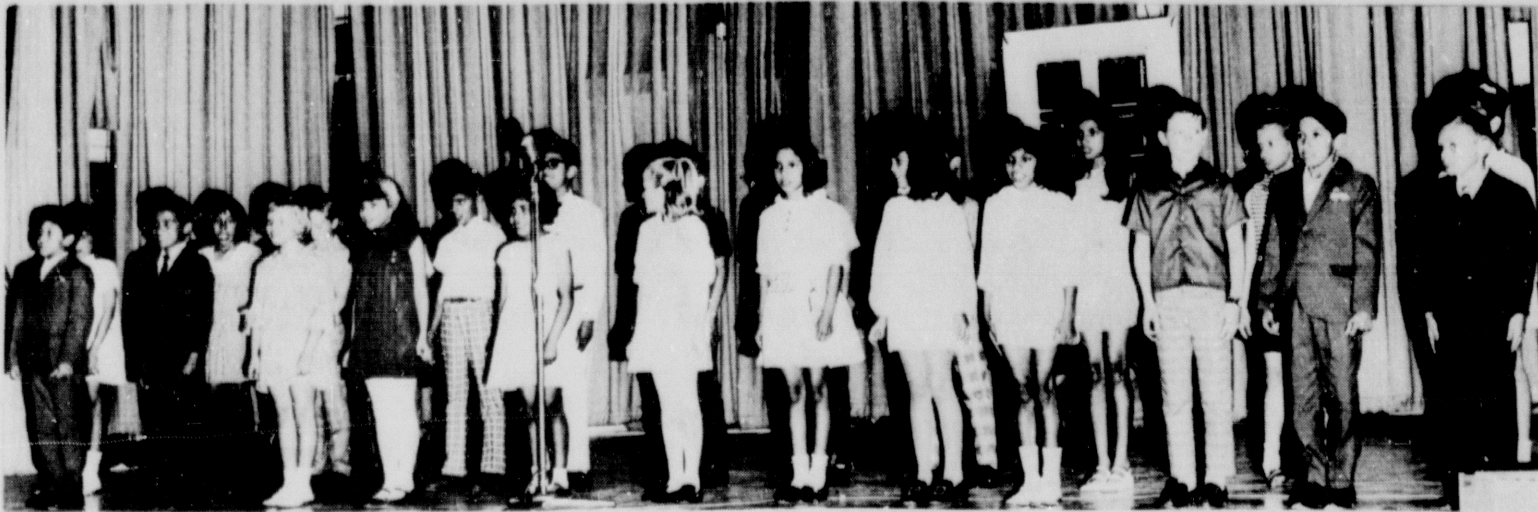

It is not only thoughts of love to which a young man's fancy turns in the spring. Could, and does -- on occasion -- turn to hats.

Such was the case with ERNEST, Jr., the now two-year old going-on-three July 29 sturdy son of ERNESTO and ESTELLA GONZALES. He and his mother were walking along Avenue L just as I was getting out of my car and Ernest paused long enough to let me admire his new straw hat, resplendent with a gay green feather in its band.

He kept a firm grip on the little sombrero, not being too sure that a stranger was to be trusted, and waved 'bye as he marched off.

Unsolicited credit cards received via mail, continue to try to tempt the potential shopper without built-in courage to say NO.

Hondo Public Library

Services for handicapped explained

To inform Texans about the many services available for the blind and physically handicapped, the Texas State Library is circulating 10 compact displays to public libraries throughout the state.

The display will be featured in the Hondo Public Library from April 27 to May 8, according to Lottie L. Maw, director of the library. The attractive four panel display -- hinged together to fold up into a compact unit for mailing -- is constructed around the theme: "To Re-create our Written Heritage."

Each 14-inch by 28-inch panel features the variety of reading materials in a choice of physical formats -- pages from a braille and large print books; plus a magnetic tape book, a record and a photograph of one of the reading aids.

A colorful collage, attached to the top of the display by two wooden dowels, features a blind person seated in a chair, surrounded by a composite of our literary heritage -- a cowboy out of a Charles Siringo western; the indomitable fisherman from Ernest Hemingway's "The Old Man and The Sea"; Moses presenting the Ten Commandments; a pirate from "Treasure Island"; a knight from Mark Twain's "A Yankee in King Arthur's Court"; a matador from Tom Lea's "Brave Bulls"; and even one of Damon Runyon's picturesque characters.

In addition, titles of such popular magazines as Sports Illustrated, True, Look, and Newsweek are featured in the collage. All of the materials are available in talking books, braille, large print, or magnetic tape books.

Camp Fire News

We called the meeting to order and had roll call. Then we discussed going to a museum. We finally decided to go to Big Foot Museum. We also discussed a tea party for our mothers and a swimming trip. Cheryl Heider served refreshments. They were good.
